

My Constitution is hanging by a thread and my faith in my government is at a very, very low ebb, and you wouldn't want to know what i think of this Adminstration. Will you also give away the public trust to the highest bidder--or shall I say, campaign contributor? Is the FCC trying to make the annihilation of basic rights a clean sweep, not to mention wrest effective ownership of the airwaves from the people?

A true libertarian, Mr. Powell, would leave the power where it belongs, with the people of these United States, not with corporate America. I'm pretty sure Clear Channel doesn't have my best interests at heart.
